Chief Pratt lined the men up last night and pulled a paper out of his pocket, stating that he had some announcements to make. They ran like this: "Thomas H. Hilton is promoted to first sergeant, in piace of F. C. Wire, who is reduced to patrolman; J. B. Burbidge is promoted to second sergeant, in piace of Mat Rhodes, who is reduced to patrolman; E. M. Janney is made third sergeant, in place of J. B. Burbidge, promoted."

Mat, who stood without chevrons among the patrolmen, began to brace himself against a construction of the supreme court decision, and spoke out: "I thought we were to be reinstated to our former positions?"

"You have been reinstated to your former positions," answered the chief, "and I have decided to make some changes." Chief Pratt lined the men up last Evening-Social Notes.

The marriage of Miss Bamaine Stoutt and Mr. Otto Herbert Schools of Omaha took place yesterday. The ceremony was performed at the Congregational church at 2 o'clock, in the presence of the immediate family. The bride were a tailormade gown of green broadcloth, with hat to match, and carried a huge bunch of chrysauthemums, Following the cere-mony an elaborate dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents on South Main street.

At 625 the happy couple left for their future home in Omaha, carrying with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

At 6.25 the happy couple left for their future home in Omaha, carrying with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

In the temple at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Miss Eugenie Meyer and Mr. William Emil Mangen were united in marriage. The bride is daughter of Mr. Fred Meyer, manager of the Z. C. M. I. clothing department—a lovely girl who has won the esteem of a host of friends on the east side. The greem is son of P. W. Madsen, the well-known merchant.

In the coxy home of the bride's parents, 125 East Second South, an elegant reception was held in honor of the event from 8 to 11 o'clock. Under a canopy of reses and smilax, the young couple received ineir guests in the parlor, the strains of an orchestra floating from an adjoining room meanwhile. The bride was arrayed in white satin brocade, trimmed in pearl passementerle, duchesse lace, and carrying white roses. She was assisted by Misses Rose Meyer, Louise and Laura Madsen, Ri Morris and Laura Hunter, her maids of honor, four young lades dressed in bewitching costume.

The house was brilliantly lighted throughout, revealing the lavish yet artistic decorations of flowers, potted plants and palms, pink and white prevailing. Delicious punch was served upstairs. Downstairs the dining hall presented a marvel of luxury and about 115 guests were seated at different periods daring the evening around the banquet table.

A wealth of wedding presents, many of them fit for a king's ranson, were laid out for inspection in one of the rooms upstairs. Altogether, the reception was one of the most elegant affairs that his taken place in east end society for some time, and the congratulations extended to the young couple were hearty and genuine.
